Process Service Self-Assessment

I. Introduction

The Service Self-Assessment Process aims to provide functional areas at Southwest Texas College with a structured approach to identifying strengths and weaknesses in college services. This process supports the development of a clear improvement plan within a defined timeframe (one year for each cycle within the five-year Strategic Plan) and assigns responsibilities to ensure accountability.

Additionally, the assessment offers an opportunity to gather direct feedback from members of the unit under review, serving as the foundation for periodic service evaluations and continuous improvement.

Following the introduction, this document describes the steps and provides guidelines for functional areas to support direction and continuous improvement.

In the next pages the term "units under review" refers to all the organizational sections, directions or units that are assessing.

II. Objective of Service Self- Assessment process

Self- Assessment Process:

The purpose of this stage is to provide complete information about the importance of evaluating the organization. During this stage, the units under review attend presentations during staff convocation led by the President. Chief of Staff, Strategic Innovation and Research and the office of Grants Management, where they receive the latest updates on the Strategic Plan and its outcomes. The units received the details regarding the self- assessment process that includes:

- A. Communicate the objective of the self- assessment process to units
- B. Training and guidelines overview
- C. Formulate Strategic Plan Intervention
- D. Unit status and recommendations

The first general presentation during the staff convocation provided examples of Strategic Plan Interventions, while the second session presentation, in small groups, focuses on conducting a comprehensive SWOT analysis by unit members. In this session, participants completed the Strategic Planning Intervention self-analysis format in pairs, allowing them to discuss challenges they have faced. In the second part of the session, groups analyze internal and external factors, as well as positive and negative aspects affecting their units. After this session, the units have the foundation to develop their interventions for the current academic year. This step is carried out using a different format (Strategic Planning Intervention Development Worksheet Staff) and in the second part of the training.

Action A. Communicate the objective of self- assessment process services, units to assess

The Strategic Innovation and Research (SIR) Office coordinates the self-assessment process for services.

The first step is training for each Unit to ensure understanding of the process and the purpose of the assessment. This training begins during the Fall Staff Convocation. Additional training sessions will be conducted at the College in a one-day format to guarantee a thorough understanding of the standards before the assessment process begins.

The SIR Office will provide a calendar indicating the dates for each Unit's self-assessment (see part III. Calendar). This process includes two types of evaluations:

1. Internal review (annual):

This assessment examines current practices within the unit. The process is supported by the Strategic Planning Intervention Self-Analysis format, which helps guide units through their internal review. This cycle is launched during the Fall Convocation.

2. Comprehensive Internal Review (Every three years):

This in-depth evaluation covers the following areas:

- o Part 1. Mission
- o Part 2. Organization and Human Resources
- o Part 3. Law, Policy, and Governance
- o Part 4. Institutional and External Relations
- Part 5. Financial Resources
- o Part 6. Technology, Facilities, and Equipment
- o Part 7. Assessment and Evaluation

Departments Review Results and Plan Next Steps:

- Departments use results from the "Strategic Planning Intervention Self- Analysis format" to identify actions
- The units under review solve with the members of the unit the Strategic Planning Intervention Development Worksheet Staff that includes a develop follow-up plans, and create brief departmental SPIs for the following year.
- After completing the "Strategic Planning Intervention Self-Analysis" with their members, each unit will submit its proposal to the SIR Office, where the submission will be reviewed by the Division Chair, approved by the Vice President, and finalized by the SIR Office.

Action B. Training and Guidelines Overview

Training and guidelines will be provided prior to each Self-Assessment. Each unit or service under review will receive clear instruction to understand the purpose, timeline, and required actions for the process.

During Staff Convocation Day, the SIR Office will lead at least two targeted sessions with specific groups to ensure clarity, alignment, and familiarity with the required formats and expectations. Additionally, the SIR Office will share the calendar for follow-up review sessions—called Coffee Clubs—which are designed to address questions and verify the information that needs to be reported in both the midterm and final assessments. These are the actions in this process:

1. SIR Creates an Introductory Presentation:

- The SIR office writes a presentation explaining the purpose of the self-assessment process to Units.
- A printed format of self-assessment is distributed to each department's members, covering the SWOT and 7 questions.

2. SIR organizes Coffee Club:

 During the academic year SIR will review progress of the Strategic Plan Initiatives and gather information to report.

Action C Formulate Strategic Plan Intervention

After attending the Fall Staff Convocation, the unit under review must develop a Strategic Plan Intervention outlining the necessary improvements, based on the "Strategic Planning Intervention Self-Analysis." Following completion of the SWOT analysis, the primary objective of this stage is to identify specific actions to be taken, assign responsibilities, and track results. The format that provides these guidelines is the Strategic Planning Intervention Development Worksheet (Staff). These results must be submitted twice per year: The Midterm (Fall) Report, due no later than January, and the Final (Spring) Report, due in May.

Date	Actions (Corrective Actions)	Responsible	Date of corrections

The midterm and final results will follow the next format:

Date	Actions (Corrective	Responsible	Date of	Results
	Actions)		corrections

Action D Unit Status and recommendations

After collecting the data from the Units in Fall and Spring, the following actions will be taken:

- 1. SIR Prepares an Annual Report: The Strategic Innovation and Research (SIR) office will prepare a final document Performance Unit Report, summarizing the findings based on the Strategic Plan Initiative.
- 2. Service Operations Committee (SOC) prepares a Unit Report Document: this report will be submitted to the Service Operations Committee (SOC), which will determine whether the unit has met the standards in each aspect. The SOC will then compile an Analysis of Unit Report Document, outlining areas of compliance and non-compliance, and categorizing the unit's status as Exemplary (Exceeds), Positive (Meets), or Conditional (Partly meets and Does Not Meet), based on the established Rating Scale Format
- Yes, Exemplary (4) or Positive (3) units will have their next evaluation in the following 3 years.
- No, Conditional Partly meets (2) and Does Not Meet (1) units must complete a Self-Assessment an provide more documentation before the next self-assessment, this documentation needs to provide the correct development of the Strategic Planning Initiative.
